

BER airport opens up new perspectives for Berlin

- "Berlin Brandenburg WelcomeCenter" from visitBerlin opens on 1 November

Berlin, 31 October 2020 Today the new Berlin Brandenburg Airport "Willy Brandt", BER, opens its doors. The modern airport will connect the German capital with all major hubs in Europe. With an initial capacity of around 40 million passengers per year, Berlin will benefit greatly from the BER after the corona crisis.

Burkhard Kieker, CEO of visitBerlin: "The opening of the new BER is a positive signal in a difficult time for the tourism and congress industry. This airport is an important prerequisite for the recovery of the Berlin economy after the Corona crisis. I congratulate all parties involved on the opening of the BER. At last Berlin is getting the airport that the city deserves".

"Berlin Brandenburg WelcomeCenter" opens on 1 November

From 1 November, the multilingual team of the "Berlin Brandenburg WelcomeCenter" will support all guests in planning their activities in the capital region, including hotel and ticket bookings as well as sightseeing and event tips. The "Berlin Brandenburg WelcomeCenter" is located in Terminal 1 on Level 0 in the public area. It is open daily from 9:00 to 16:00.

Further information is available at: <https://www.visitberlin.de/en/berlin-brandenburg-welcomecenter>

Downloads

- [BER airport opens up new perspectives for Berlin \[.pdf 672.2 KB\]](#)

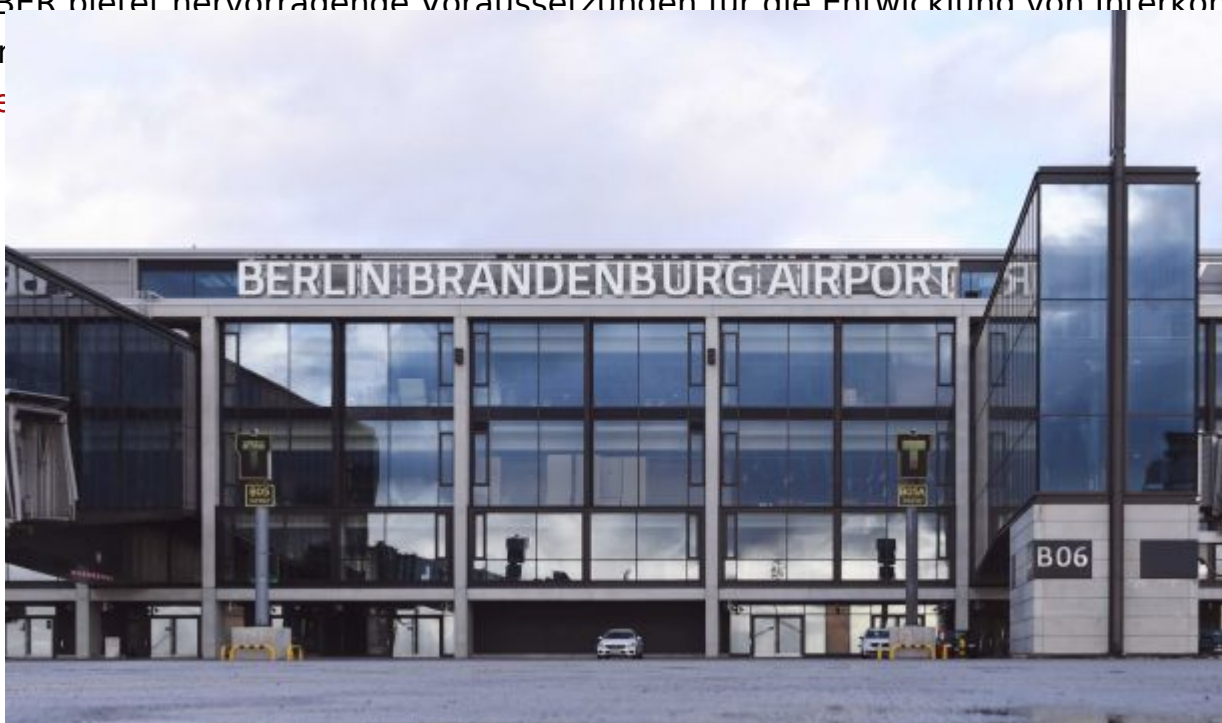

Rela

© visitBerlin

BER: Erste Landung auf Start- und Landebahn Süd

Der BFR bietet hervorragende Voraussetzungen für die Entwicklung von Interkontinental-
Anbin
weite

© Dept

Berlin, 2.9.2020

The Berlin Brandenburg airport is opening on 31 October 2020

Read more

View PDF

about.visitBerlin.de