

Spectacular journey through time: opening of the Pergamon Panorama in Berlin

Exhibition tickets and travel package bookable through visitBerlin

Berlin, 29 September 2011 - The exhibition "Pergamon. Panorama of the Ancient City" will be inaugurated tomorrow. On a 25 x 10 meter panorama the ancient Greece is to be virtually revived in the cour d'honneur of the Pergamon Museum – including day and night simulation, music and everyday sounds. In addition, excavation finds never exhibited before will be shown by the Museum until September 2012.

2 x 360°: Ancient Pergamon and modern Berlin

On the occasion of the exhibition visitBerlin now offers visitors to the German capital a new package. The included time window ticket for the exhibition saves long waiting times in front of the Museum. The package also encompasses two overnight stays with breakfast, a ticket for the Berlin television tower with a free drink at the Panorama Bar and the Berlin WelcomeCard for a total price of EUR 159 per person in a double room (EUR 239 per person in a single room).

Bookable now

The package "360° Pergamon" is now bookable at the Service Center of visitBerlin under phone number 030-25 00 25. Individual tickets for the journey through time to ancient Pergamon are likewise available at the Service Center or in the Berlin Tourist Infos.

More information on www.visitBerlin.de.

(1,371 characters)